

Background

1

You may need to apply for a variation to your application, plans and/or drawings for numerous reasons – such as changes in measurements, design, and boundaries.

The process to apply for a variation will depend on the stage of your application:

- Consent is Under Assessment

Provide the updated drawings (using one of the following methods) to the assessing relevant authority, who will make the necessary amendments to your application.

- Online by upload additional documents into your application
- Email
- Post
- In person

- Consent(s) are Granted

Apply for a variation available online from your application or by contacting the assessing relevant authority.

Variation selectable consents examples

On submission of the variation request the consent issuing relevant authority is notified and evaluate your request to decide if variation is minor, not minor, or not a variation.

The ability to submit a variation request must be done within the consent 'Operative Period End' date (2 years from the decision date) or the development approval 'Commencement Date' (1 year from the decision date or 2 years from the decision date). For further assistance in these instances, contact the relevant authority who granted the consent or issued the development approval.

Related Instructions

Throughout the assessment of the variation request you may be asked for information, payment or be notified of the decision outcome via email or letter.

1. Request for information

During the assessment of your variation the relevant authority may request additional information by email or letter. Follow the instructions to respond to the request.

- Respond to request for information | PlanSA

2. Request for variation fee payment

When your variation request is deemed minor a variation fee payment is required. The application's invoice contact is advised by email (with fee advice for payment attached) or by letter. Follow the instructions to make the payment.

- Make application fee payment | PlanSA
- Make application fee payment within your application | PlanSA
- Print application fee payment documents – fee advice and tax invoice | PlanSA

3. Variation decision

a) Variation is 'not minor'

You will be advised by email or letter when your variation request is 'not minor'. A draft development application will be created and linked to the existing development application. Follow the instructions to locate and submit the development application | PlanSA.

b) Approval

On approval of your variation request you are advised, and a Decision Notification Form (DNF) will be generated and made available from your development applications document store. Follow the instructions Print the Decision Notification Form | PlanSA.

c) Not a variation

When your variation request is considered not a variation – i.e. changes that significantly alter the proposed development – you are advised to lodge a new development application. Follow the instructions to submit a development application | PlanSA.
